

“NOSTALGIA”

Nostalgia for what might have been if...
leads you to moments of epiphany,
to moments of utter melancholy and dangerous despair, until everything becomes foggy and blurry and you realize you find yourself trapped in the twilight without ever having experienced love's awesome quintessence, because you didn't dare to have a vision broad enough to embrace it so far.

Whispers of happiness invade into your solitude every now and then don't turn your back on them once more for fear you may fail...
Listen to the echo in your head reminding you that you are walking towards the wrong direction misguided by the anonymous crowd, whose rush gradually wears you out.

Think of all the precious moments you will miss if you keep on rejecting the person beside you, who reaches out his hand and shows you your destiny if you keep on ignoring the leaping in your heart, that shows you the right way to conquer your dreams, to overcome all obstacles and boundaries before your time is up!

How can unbearable routine be transformed into idyllic completion?
You can truly feel sublimity and transcendence in the midst of life!
