

DIOGEN traži čovjeka
2012.
DIOGEN is seeking for human being

Naida Hrustemović

Naida Hrustemovic was born on 24th of May in Sarajevo. After finishing elementary school “Alija Nametak”, with a title “Pride of the generation”, Naida enters First Grammar School in Sarajevo. After graduating Grammar School, Naida enrolls at the Faculty of Political Science a full-time student at the Department of journalism. Naida is a member of the Literary Club at the Youth Center «Gorica». Her works have been published in two poetry collections: “To stars and slightly lower” and “Such a great invention.”

As a representative of afore mentioned Club, Naida took place at numerous events, among which: “Sarajevo Days of Poetry”, International Festival Sarajevo “Sarajevo Winter”, "Meetings of young writers from the South East Europe". In addition, Naida has received an recognition, by Novo Sarajevo’s literary meetings 2007, for participation in the event. Her first individual poetry collection named “Castle of Tulips” has been recently published.

Among authors from 25 countries from all around the World has been included in Anthology “Poets for World Peace”, 2011, published by DIOGEN pro culture magazine & DHIRA, Swiss.

